

18 Years of Honeycomb

For nearly two decades, Honeycomb has had the SWEET responsibility of being the leading resource for all things Jewish Youth Philanthropy. At the center of our work are the different initiatives, resources, and learning opportunities that have helped communities empower young participants to become the future of philanthropy.

RESOURCES

Honeycomb provides an extensive range of various educational materials, tools, and publications for youth philanthropy; many of which are free, thanks to our generous partners and funders.

INITIATIVES

Honeycomb is proud to offer catalysts for new programs as initiatives, including:

- iGive National
- iGive LA
- Foundation Board Incubator
- Opening the Dor
- LAunchpad

TRAININGS

Honeycomb creates trainings for educators, professionals, organizations, and parents to enhance their skills in delivering Jewish youth philanthropy programs and practices.

CURRICULUM

Honeycomb's full curriculum includes philanthropy methodology, full session plans, facilitation guidance, experiential education techniques, and handouts.

RESEARCH

Honeycomb works diligently to take part in and provide meaningful data to the communities that house our programs. By offering real data, our program facilitators can save time, energy, and funds because we collect, process, and organize responses from across the field.
